

E-TRACK IS ON ITS WAY!

E-Track, the OCWTP's online learning management system, will be rolling out to county staff and caregivers in 2010. Find out what this means for you...

What E-Track Means For Trainees

E-Track will allow OCWTP trainees instant access to their individual training records; the ability to search and register for training; the ability to launch online learning modules; the ability to monitor their individual development plans (IDPs); the ability to link to available learning interventions to meet training needs identified in their IDPs; and the ability to complete online learning evaluations and receive instant digital certificates after completion of training.

What E-Track Means for Supervisors:

E-Track will allow OCWTP supervisors to do everything trainees can do, plus they will be able to manage the to-do lists and the individual development plans of their supervisees.

What E-Track Means for Trainers:

E-Track will allow OCWTP trainers instant access to their calendar of scheduled trainings; the ability to monitor their own individual trainer development plans; and the ability to search and register for online and classroom trainer development workshops.

What E-Track Means for RTCs:

E-Track will allow RTCs the ability to assess aggregate training needs data to track trends and plan future training; the ability to create, populate, and track learning interventions online; and the ability to instantly access trainers available and approved to train specific workshops.
